"Early Bird," has been writing to the Daily Press regarding the right of the Hongkong lockey Club to exercise control and supervision over the enclosure and racing tracks held by the memb is of that institution under lease from the local Government. I don't know which of the twain, the persons who wrote the farrage of malicious miste presentations or the editor who allowed what he must have known to be a string of falsebonds to appear in his paper under a nom de plume is the more blameworthy; but that is a matter of very little consequence, as they are both apparently beneath contempt. Now, let us see what " Early Bird," who may be the "Man in the Ditch," the "Warned Off," or the latest heachcomber, has to complain of. He commences by asserting that the Stewards of the Hongkong lockey Club#have entirely alienated acres of ground set apart, ever since the found ition of this colony, for the use of the public "-he spells "public," by the way, with a capital P, so he, may safely be put down as a weeping forci ner (crocodile tears always on tap), or a Briton whose early schooling has been scandalously neglected-"from them, for the Club's owr absolute or exclusive use." The grammatical construction of the foregoing extract from " I arly Bird's " lament, again forcibly suggests the "intelligent foreigner." The assertion is a deliberate falsehood, and the man who made it co ally with the man who published its must have known it to be a falsehood. The Jockey Club's lease extends only to the stands, stand enclosure, race-course, and training track, and no claim or right over the reclamation in the centre of the Happy Valley has ever been made. "Early Bird" says he is "aware that a few years ago a sort of Jockey Club was formed here, and that it obtained from the Government for a nominal consideration the custody and charge of the race-course, engaging to keep the tracks in good serviceable order and condition, so as to be enabled to provide first class sport to (sic) the community." if "Early Bird" is aware of all this, I am quite sure that nobody else in the colony, perhaps excepting the genius who allowed such palpable fabrications to disgrice the columns of his newspaper: possesses any such information. In plain English, it is a stupid lie.

If "Early Bird" is a man-that he is not gentleman, in any sense of the word, goes for the saying-and has the courage to tell the public whose interests he prefends to protect, and who and what he is. I shall be glad to prove to him that the Hongkong Jockey Club has not only improved the race-course and its surroundings without infringing in the slightest degree on the privileges enjoyed by the outside public, but has likewise vastly improved the morale of racing in the colony. This unknown benefactor of a trodden-down community says that, when he went for his constitutional a month ago, a notice "The course is shu," stared him in the face. And in saying this he again deliberately lies the course and training track were duly opened for training purposes on November 1st, according to usual custom, and have never been closed since—to those who had a right to use them. And "Early Bird," who is not a member of the lockey Club, had no more right to use the course without special permission than he would have to walk uninvited into my drawing room, and if he did that, Ling Shing's far-famed short thiry-sixes would quickly yindicate the rights ol meum et tuum.

This loafer, for he can be nothing else, was thunderstruck to find on the morning of the oth inst. a notice on the gate leading to the Grand tand, intimating that the Stand and enclosure were "For Members only;" and he further states that he and several of his friends were "Simply turned away from the entrance top radise." I have inquired about this latter statement, and find it is absolutely without foundation; it is a barefaced, impudent, false- mission by the very process of earning tha hood, the author of which deserves to be horse-, livelihood-in fact you will not only aid whipped through the town at a cart's tall. The dastardly and totally unjustified attack on Mr. also, by your influence and example, the millions Gore-Booth, the popular Clerk of the Course, in that Empire of which you are naturally proud should of itself have prevented the Daily Press, (applause). His Expellency then distributed the from printing the losthsome garbage of a foulmouthed blackguard who is evidently lost to all, and friends of the Institution. He especially sense of common deceney. Mr G re-Booth, by virtue of his position as Clerk of the Course. spaper. He subsequently announced that the has sole control of the race tracks, stands, and enclosures, and he is responsible for everything connected with them. His orders, so long as they are covered by the rules and regulations of the Jockey Club, are as inviolable as the boasted laws of the Medes and Persians. And in this particular instance the C: C) has not in the slightest degree travelled beyond his authorityand what is more; the members of the Jockey Club support him to a man in everything he has done since he assumed control of the onerous and disagreeable duties attached to his position.

The members of the Hongkong Jockey Club objectionable -vide Rule 8, which makes this might probably be granted. "removal and exclusion" an absolute necessity. . . Of course, the contention that outsiders should be allowed to make exhibitions, of themselves on the training track during the racing season, is too absurd for serious consideration; there is ample room for these gentry to witch the world with noble horsemanship in the centre of the Valley. -:

Since writing the above (on board good ship Fatshan, en route from Canton) I have noticed an editorial in the Daily Press on the above subject. It must have been penned by the office coolie, or the muscular Celestial who turns the crank of the printing machine. I would ask the Daily Press authority to obtain a copy of the Jockey Club | the Princess of Wales birthday. rules, to carefully perme them, and then to pay a visit to the Happy Valley and see for, himself | looks remarkably well; he was met on board the true position of affairs. Let, me, in the meantime, assure him that the Jeckey Club's rights are clearly "marked out," and defined in the lease, the nature and extent of the control, fully declared, and further, that the rights of the public have never been encroached on in the slightest degree. There is no necessity for another riding track being made, a dozen ponies can comfortably gallop abreast round the entire circuit, inside the rails of the Jockey Club's training track, on as good and 'sound turf as the most fastidious' horseman could desire. And I would just remind the practe of the morning paper that when "the course is closed," it is just as much closed to members of the Jackey Club as to the outside | for a forthight. in ... public.
